

2009 GEORGIA TECH
MODEL UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE
Sponsored by the Sam Nunn School of International Affairs
OCTOBER 5-6 2009

GTMUN 2009 Delegation Awards

Delegation Awards are presented to the delegations that have collectively done the best job at representing their country and the ideals of the United Nations. These awards are presented to countries that perform consistently across all committees. A fuller explanation of the criteria for awards is available on:

George P. Burdell Cup: United States of America
Outstanding Delegations: New Zealand, China

GTMUN 2009 Delegate Awards

Delegate awards are presented to those delegates who were observed to best represent their country and embody the ideals of the United Nations within a committee. Each committee has one Outstanding Delegate and two Honorable Mentions. In committees with two delegates per country (double delegations), the country is recognized rather than individuals. ICJ awards are listed separately as they differ from regular committee awards. Honorable Mentions are listed alphabetically and not based on rank awarded by the Directors of each committee. A fuller explanation of the criteria for awards is available on: http://gtmun.org/documents/2009/2009_Awards_Information.pdf
